Death And Destruction In Wake Of Receding Flood Waters In East

(International News Service)
SUNBURY, Pa., April 2.—Inch by inch, the swollen Susquehanna river receded from near-overflow stage today and Sunbury residents breathed more easily as Mayor Morris R. Michaels announced:
"I am inclined to believe the crest of the river may have passed early today."

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 2.—Residents of the flood-ravaged Wyoming Valley tightened their vigilance today in spite of official reassurance that the swollen Susquehanna had passed the peak of its destructive power.

State Police Seek To Run Down New Theories In Co-ed's Death

MOTORIST MAY HAVE HIT GIRL

(International News Service)
STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 2.—State police today were exploring a tip that Rachel H. Taylor, slain Pennsylvania State College co-ed, was intercepted or joined by her slayer within 100 feet of the college dormitory.

Lieut. Norman Annich also revealed that investigators were tracing the actions of 200 persons the night the 17-year-old Wildwood, N. J. girl was attacked and killed while returning to college from Easter vacation.

The police theory that Miss Taylor was the victim of a crazed motorist was strengthened by a Methodist minister and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Gail Norris, who told authorities of an incident they witnessed early last Thursday morning from the window of their home near the dormitory.

Recalls Incident

Mrs. Norris recalled she saw a motor car swerve into the driveway of Atherton Hall, dormitory for women, and detected "something white" on the road after the machine came to a halt.

A moment later, she said, the motorist was seen to get out of the car and walk toward the dormitory.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Grass on the plots in the public square is beginning to show a lot of green. In a short time the public square will look its nicest.

All autos are now required to carry 1940 state license tags. Pa. New note that drivers in some localities are being taken into custody for failure to have the new tags.

Tourist homes in the New Castle area seem to be on the increase. There are scores of these homes throughout Lawrence county, at the present time.

Discussing the "sun spots" and the Aurora Borealis, and its effects, of a few days ago, Mrs. Lucy Pullwood, Pollock avenue, remembers that one day, when teaching in the public schools, at Harts Hill, Dudley, England, in 1880, the Aurora Borealis could be seen in all its splendor. So wonderful was the sight, the pupils became much frightened, and the governess (school mistress) dismissed school, sending the children to their homes.

Death, privation and distress over a wide area lay in the wake of the grudgingly receding flood waters.

The death toll from floods over the week end rose to 10 today when state motor policeman Tashur, of Treckow, Carbon county, died in Wilkes-Barre from injuries received while directing flood traffic. Five other persons were reported missing and were believed to have drowned.

Bridge Wrecked At Wilkes-Barre

Center Span Of Bridge To Kingston Taken Out By Flood Today

(International News Service)
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 2.—Even as flood victims cheered reports of receding waters in the stricken Wyoming Valley, the still-rampaging Susquehanna river today carried away the center span of the Carey avenue bridge between Wilkes-Barre and Kingston.

The span collapsed with a roar as the swift current sucked the understructure, weakened by pressure of high water, into the main stream. The quarter-mile-long bridge, one of five spanning the north branch of the Susquehanna in the vicinity of Wilkes-Barre, was closed yesterday when water began to loosen its foundations. End spans remained intact, but authorities could not say whether these could withstand the continuing pressure.

Twenty-Two Are Dead In Floods

(International News Service)
Spring thaws and rains culminated in flood conditions over a wide area, held the attention of the nation today with 22 persons already dead, many missing and property damage running into millions of dollars.

Pennsylvania listed 10 dead; upstate New York, four; Michigan, two; and another six on the west coast.

The principal danger spot was the Susquehanna Valley below Wilkes-Barre as the swollen Susquehanna passed flood stage and spilled over low-lying areas.

However there was cheer in the report at 8 a. m., that the crest of the river apparently had passed Sunbury and the danger of a general overflow had been averted.

Autoists Must Heed Stop Signs

Because of an increase in automobile accidents, due to failure of drivers to observe stop signs and red lights, Chief of police Marion J. Young today stated that police had been ordered to watch closely for violations, and as soon as they note them to make arrests. "Any person arrested for failing to stop at a stop sign or running through a red light cannot expect leniency," the chief warned.

Reports of stop signs and red lights being violated have been received from various sections of the city.

Wisconsin Primary Voting Today To Show Presidential Trend

(International News Service)
MADISON, Wis., April 2.—The nation's long-debated presidential issues reached the voting stage today as traditionally liberal Wisconsin went to the polls in the first popular voting test both of third term sentiment and G. O. P. candidate strength.

President Roosevelt was opposed by Vice President John Nance Garner for Democratic presidential favor, and District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York was opposed for Republican favor by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, in the two major choices on the Wisconsin primary ballot.

Beginning early this morning, the voting was to continue until 5 p. m. in rural districts, and until 8 p. m. in Milwaukee and other major centers. Prospects were that the voting trend might be definitely known by midnight.

Dewey Vs. Vandenberg
The most clear-cut test was that between Dewey, who made a 300 mile tour of Wisconsin last week, and Vandenberg. Backers of each hoped to win a good majority of the 24 delegates Wisconsin will send to the G. O. P. National Convention to aid in picking a presidential nominee.

There was also a possibility that some unpledged delegates would be sent to the Republican convention, although open candidates were not (Continued On Page Two)

Britain Makes New Trade Pacts With Neutrals

Trade Agreements Being

BLOCKADE BEING

Neutral Nations Agree To Halt Re-export Of Food
And Goods To Ger-

By ROBERT G. NIXON

LONDON, April 2.—Great Britain has concluded new war-time trade agreements with four neutral nations and has four other agreements of major importance in prospect, it was stated authoritatively today.

High sources revealed the pacts contain a vital agreement by the neutral nations not to re-export commodities and raw materials to Germany.

Latest Diplomatic Stroke
These agreements thus represent the latest stroke in Europe's diplomatic warfare occasioned by Anglo-French efforts to starve out the Reich and plug Scandinavian, Balkan, Dutch and Belgian leaks in their anti-German blockade.

It was revealed that the British and French are concentrating particularly on the Balkans in these efforts.

EDITOR'S NOTE: An administration analysis of Germany's food resources and requirements released in Washington envisioned a food crisis in the Reich by next September unless its neighbor nations fill out the shortage with supplies they themselves can hardly afford to spare. Official sources said this probably accounts for today's scheduled conference between German, Hungarian, Yugoslavian and Italian agriculture ministers at Budapest.

Not To Be Resold
British pacts just initiated with Denmark and Holland contain an agreement—highly important to the allies—that these neutral nations may import without hindrance goods in sufficient quantities to fill their normal needs, but that products manufactured from such raw materials will not be resold to Germany.

Agreements with Greece and Spain also have been completed while trade talks with Yugoslavia opened yesterday in London and similar negotiations with Rumania are to be launched in a few days.

HARRISBURG, April 2.—Former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti told the jury in the macing trial of Democratic State Chairman David L. Lawrence and seven other party officials today that he had twice refused to dismiss employees of his department for non-payment of political assessments.

Called as a prosecution witness, Margiotti testified that he turned down the demands of Dauphin county Democratic leaders urging the dismissal of two deputies attorney general—George W. Keitzel and E. Russell Shockley—because they refused to pay back assessments.

Believe American Exports May Be Reaching Germany

BULLETIN

LONDON, April 2.—The possibility that huge American exports to neutral neighbors of Germany are being re-exported to the Reich, was labeled an "unacceptable" suggestion today by Ronald H. Cross, British minister of economic warfare.

Asked if United States exports to Germany's neighbors have shown an enormous increase since outbreak of the war, Cross replied:

"I cannot accept the suggestion that this indicates the products are being re-exported to Germany."

War Secretary Sees Fleet Maneuvers

Navy Launches 1940 War Games

Heavy-Gunned U. S. Fleet Starts Out On Pacific For War Maneuvers

ADMIRAL RICHARDSON
COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF

By RALPH E. JORDAN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

SAN PEDRO, Cal., April 2.—Like a giant unshackling for the fray, the heavy-gunned United States fleet, defender of all the Americas, quietly shook loose from its moorings Monday for the start of its 1940 war games.

Technically known as "Fleet Problem 21," the maneuvers loom as the most important and intensive since World war days and will take the fighting craft over a wide sweep of the Pacific within the Alaska-Hawaii-Panama triangle.

Edison On Hand
Slated for the bridge of the battleship Pennsylvania, flagship of the fleet, is Admiral James O. Richardson, commander-in-chief, accompanied by Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison, the first secretary to participate in a fleet problem in many years. The admiral will act as umpire and Edison as an observer.

The armada will consist of 130 fighting surface craft, carrying 400 warplanes and a personnel of more than 50,000 officers and men. With bitter conflicts actually raging over both the eastern and western horizons, the fleet will move and work out its problems under strict wartime conditions and with grim intensity until the latter part of May, when it will return to normal bases.

Once at sea, the fleet will go into cruising formation, the 12 heavy cruisers far out in the front line, followed by a column of 11 battleships which will be screened by most of the eight light cruisers and 65 destroyers. In the rear will be submarines and three aircraft carriers.

Will Divide Fleet
Then the first phases of problem 21 will start, with the armada being divided into a black fleet, under command of Admiral C. P. Snyder, and a white fleet, commanded by Vice Admiral W. S. Pye. "It is anticipated," says an official navy announcement, "that there will be high speed search activities by aircraft and light craft, aircraft attack and defense, close action by heavy ships, as well as various special tactical situations, during this phase."

The second phase of the problem will embrace an attack and defense of the Hawaiian Islands, America's vital Pacific outpost with the Great Pearl Harbor naval base. In this phase Admiral Snyder will command the purple fleet and Vice Admiral Adolphus Andrews the maroon force. The army will cooperate. After playing hide-and-seek with each other at sea, the attacking fleet will drive in suddenly, unloose its aircraft to knock out the planes of the defenders, then theoretically give the island of Oahu, where Pearl Harbor is located, a good shelling and land troops under cover of fire to occupy the island.

WISCONSIN VOTE TO SHOW TREND FOR PRESIDENT

entered in every case. Full slates for both Dewey and Vandenberg were entered.

The Roosevelt-Garner test was complicated by the fact that two slates of prospective delegates to the Democratic convention were entered on behalf of the president, as against one for Garner.

The vote for both Roosevelt slates was to be lumped together for comparison with Garner's vote. However, the possibility remained that the Roosevelt split would elect several Garner delegates, even where the Roosevelt total might be higher.

Garner May Get Some
Garner forces were prepared to claim a victory if they elected eight of the 24 Democratic delegates.

They hope to show that, even though Roosevelt is favored for nomination, there is sufficient anti-third term sentiment within the party to beat him when he is in competition with a Republican.

The rival Roosevelt slates are fighting for control of state party machinery and the right to name members of the national Democratic committee. The "regular" slate, supported by national committee members Charles E. Broughton, also has been accused of furthering the candidacy of Postmaster General James A. Farley under the guise of supporting Roosevelt.

State Democratic Chairman William D. Carroll came out for Garner, in a speech at La Crosse last night, and accused the Roosevelt forces of combining with Communism in an effort to break down American traditions, including the one against a third term.

He quoted Earl Browder, American head of the Communist party, as saying that "Communism is boring into the Democratic party through the veil of the third term idea."

Both Edward R. Bacon, head of Dewey's Wisconsin organization, and Laurence U. Hall, Wisconsin chairman for Vandenberg, issued statements predicting victories for their candidates as the voting began.

Mrs. L. B. Calvin conducted an impressive memorial service for the late Mrs. William R. Hanna at the meeting of the Phillips Missionary Society, First Christian church, on Monday evening, in the home of Mrs. Ruth Elder, East Washington street. Margaret Hogue was associate hostess.

Mrs. Hanna was the society's first president when the circle was organized 27 years ago.

Mrs. Clarence Sadler had charge of the program. The subject was "World Need for Fellowship." Margaret Hogue and Della Vaughn led the discussion, and at the close, the hostess aided by Diana Elder served a delicious lunch.

The May meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Dale Andrews, Mt. Jackson, with Mrs. Harold Blevins as associate hostess.

Q. A. C. Meets Thursday
Members of the Q. A. C. club will meet Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Charles Micro, 1306 West Washington street, for their regular session, and not this evening as previously announced.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHARACTER KEEPS THE JOB

Of great concern to every youth and his parents is the vocation he should choose and prepare for. Youths need to know about what careers are open and what are seriously overcrowded. Stenography, for example, is painfully overcrowded, while there is a shortage of persons trained to operate computing machines. But they should find out about themselves as well as the possible careers. The high school principal or adviser may have on hand some aptitude test to give them. From these tests they may learn some things about themselves, and the careers for which they are suited.

But it is not enough just to land a job. Your child will want to keep it and win promotion. About half the men and women who get discharged lose their jobs because of personality or character defects. They fail to get along well with the boss or others of the firm, or they fail to live up to high standards of workmanship and respectability.

Moral Integrity
You young people who are about to start your careers should remember that no matter in what capacity you will earn a living, the virtues of moral integrity will prove to be your best assets for making good. More and more the employer is looking for young men and women who are fundamentally honest and dependable, who will work for their employer as faithfully as for themselves.

These traits of character, so essential to success in the long run, every youth, however rich or poor, bright or dull, can, if he cares, exercise every day at home, at school and in the community.

Every youth looking far into the future, regardless of the vocation he may choose, might do well to ask himself some questions:

How much responsibility do I take at home to contribute to the everyday welfare and happiness of my family? Do I do my honest share? Do I do more than I have to or just as little as I can? Am I only a parasite on my parents, or a worthy co-operating and participating member of my family?

Am I Honest.
Do I pursue my school studies carefully, faithfully, honestly? Or am I a cheat, always attempting to get by with as little effort as possible? Am I dependable? Can I be counted on to do small and unpleasant things, to work as conscientiously for my school in the shadows as in the limelight?

What do the neighbors and trades-people think of me? How would they rank me in character and consideration for the rights of others? How many of them would write an enthusiastic recommendation for me?

THE INQUISITION AGAIN

I have already protested against the impertinent Census Inquisition now about to be imposed upon the American serfs—this branch of the human race, one proud of its heritage as a Nation of freeborn citizens.

The United States of America doesn't seem like the same place it was only a few years ago. I can remember when it was definitely unhealthy for anyone to ask personal questions of another. People went about their business planting potatoes, raising pigs, selling calico or printing a newspaper as they pleased.

There was something soothing and soul-satisfying about doing pretty much as one pleased. There was something clean and fresh about the air we breathed. If a man undertook an argument about this or that he well understood that he must use wisdom and caution in his position for he would have to defend it himself. No one ever thought of yelling for the police.

This policy and principle developed individual discretion. One seldom looked in too much territory. A political argument on the street corner was a village event, and there was no hedging nor evasion. Men spoke of their convictions and let the chips fall where they would. The crowd gathered and chimed in to keep things going.

There was one requirement of recognized citizenship. You had to pay your way. Success was a distinction, not a dog-eat-dog policy. If a man had a run of good luck his neighbors envied him and gave him a lift. He invested his crop, or kept store for him. That wasn't a law. It wasn't a government function. It was just love and affection, sympathy, human kindness, neighborliness.

Now we seem to be suffocating. The air seems close. We have a sense of being watched, and a growing feeling of being guilty of something all the time. The spirit of love and helpfulness and neighborliness has turned to hate and suspicion and distrust. We don't like each other any more. We want to turn each other in for something. Somebody has got something we ought to have and the "guy-munt has got to give it" for us.

Indolence and improvidence have displaced industry and thrift, and (Continued On Page Seven)

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:25. Sun rises tomorrow 5:41.

When Gov. James was in New Castle last Sunday he attended services at the First Presbyterian church. A local lady sat beside him during the entire service and talked with him, but did not know he was the governor until after the service. Was she spritzed!

Hearing reports that men are beginning to wear hats as odd looking as those the gals cart around leads our friend Snook to remark that the boys can't fight a losing battle forever.

We have noticed that about all the gals agree on one thing and that is the color of the stockings they wear. They are about all the same color and weight—and not much weight.

Once a local attorney was defending a man charged with pocket picking. The complaining witness was on the stand. "Now, Mr. Blank," began the attorney, "just when was it that your pocket was picked?" "Ask your client," said the witness angrily. "He took my watch."

HUSTLE AND GRIN

Smile, and the world smiles with you; knock and you go in alone; for the cheerful grin will let you in where the kisser is never known. Growl, and the way looks dreary; laugh and the path is bright; for the welcome smile brings sunshine, while a frown shuts out the light. Sigh, and you take in nothing; work, and the prize is won; for the nervous man with a backbone can by nothing be outdone. Kick, and there's trouble brewing; whistle, and life is gay, and the world's in tune like a day in June, and the clouds will melt away.

Hubbard: "The women in this town are very impolite."
Wife: "Why do you say that?"
Hubbard: "As I rode down on the street car this morning so many ladies crowded into the aisle that I could hardly see to read my paper."

Awful though! The ugly modernistic things we are making now will be sold to our grandchildren as perfectly darling antiques.

She said, "Well, reverend, I call him Opium Jefferson Jones."

A State College professor declares that parents are often to blame for the poor reports children get in school and should not scold them if they get poor reports. He says the children might be suffering from some physical ailments, caused by poor teeth and other things. Talks like a dentist.

The audience was very unkind at the speaker's temperance lecture and kept interrupting. At last he hired an ex-prize fighter to keep order. That night he contrasted the content of home life with the squallor of drunkenness.

"What is it we want when we return home from our daily toil?" he asked. "What do we want to ease our burden, to gladden our hearts, to bring smiles to our faces and joyous songs to our lips?"

Discuss Tax on Smaller Earnings
Congress Debating Income Revenue
Are Hesitant To Offend Too Many

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Congress recently has been debating the desirability (or the contrary) of lowering income tax exemptions.

That is to say, at present a citizen whose income is below a certain modest level isn't taxed at all. If it's above that level he begins to be taxed. As his income gets larger he's taxed at a gradually increasing rate. If he earns his income he doesn't pay as high a rate on it as he does if he gets it in the form of dividends on some investment.

All this probably is no information to income taxpayers. In mid-March they had to make their usual contributions to their various collectors, and at that time undoubtedly studied the law very thoroughly.

However, it behooves the folk whose incomes thus far have been below the taxable level to take notice that there's a good bit of Washington sentiment in favor of socking considerably smaller incomes than heretofore. Naturally this, if it's done, will catch a great many individuals who have paid a cent's worth of that kind of taxes up to date.

Not Entirely Unpopular
Now, an income tax generally is spoken of as about the most unpopular of all forms of taxation to those who have to pay it.

Of course it isn't unpopular, though, to those whose incomes are below the taxable level. On the contrary, they incline to regard it as a very on a privileged class, and to feel that it serves 'em right for being so opulent. As soon as the thing begins to hit today's "exempts," however, it's a safe prediction that their squawk will be something awful.

Congressmen foresee just what a howl there'll be and are pretty hesitant to antagonize so many voters. Just the same, the money is badly needed. Furthermore, lawmakers are quite numerous who argue, confidentially, that an unpopular tax is the best kind of a tax, for the very reason that the taxpayers are sure to yell bloody murder at the first sign of governmental extravagance.

Indirect Taxation
This school of thought contends that indirect taxation is the best business because the public doesn't realize that it's being taxed at all—it suffers under the load, but fails to comprehend what it's suffering from.

For instance, assume that Uncle Sam gets his revenue from a customs impost. Importers pay it on goods they bring into the country, but when they sell these goods they charge that much more for them. Consequently the ultimate consumer rarely is the chap who pays the tax, though he doesn't know it because the money isn't taken directly out of his pocket by a treasury official. He may growl because he considers prices too high, but unless he's a good deal of an economist he's unaware that he's being taxed.

Sales taxes are the same way. The folk who do the selling charge that much more for the stuff they sell. Or perhaps they charge more than the tax amounts to.

Revenue Stamps, Too
Ditto revenue stamps. When I buy a package of cigarettes my notion is that that cigarette is what I'm paying for. I have to stop and do some deliberate thinking to realize that I'm paying also for the revenue stamp across the end of the package. But there's no misapprehension about income taxation.

To begin with, making out the "return" is a nuisance.

And you know exactly how much you're paying. It HURTS, and you know it's a TAX that's hurting you. You wouldn't pay that tax if you could help it. Uncle Sam holds you up and takes it away from you. He implies a threat, too, the threat of a criminal prosecution if you're balky. The form of the thing is offensive. It makes you sore if you're like the average person.

Proponents of the income tax contend that all this is a good thing—it makes the country "tax conscious."

But that congress really will lower the exemption figure isn't so certain. Plenty of its members favor the plan in theory are decidedly timid about going on record to that effect on account of what they are pretty sure the voters' reaction will be next election day.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

The Rover Returns

Washington, April 2. NOW that Mr. Sumner Welles, special roving envoy of the President, has returned from his three weeks' sweep across the face of war-torn Europe, there are two views as to what he accomplished. One of these is the public view presented by the President and State Department officials.

THE other is the private view held by realistic members of the department; by some of our leading diplomats and by others who, from the start, did not look with favor upon the Welles mission. These detected in it the unpleasant odor of domestic politics and made no secret of their belief in its essential futility. Between the two views there is as wide a gap as can be imagined.

THE White House position, for example, is that Mr. Welles has gathered information and facts of very great value to the President; that his first-hand contact with the rulers of the belligerent nations and Italy was fruitful of results; that a clearer understanding of the situation has been obtained which will make more realistic and effective our handling of foreign affairs. In general, that is the official and friendly summary of the Welles trip. It markedly differs from the unofficial and less partial view. This holds that Mr. Welles did accomplish something but not what is above represented. On the contrary, it is contended that the result of his visit was the reverse of beneficial. Undoubtedly, it is asserted, he contributed to "pulling the pins" from under Daladier in France; he weakened Chamberlain in England and his visit inspired the carefully staged conference between Hitler and Mussolini at the Brenner Pass.

IN addition, it gave currency to the story that Germany and the United States would again resume full diplomatic relations through an exchange of Ambassadors. That, at this time, such action certainly would be interpreted in Germany as friendly gesture involving qualified American approval was clear. Naturally, the thought was unwelcome to the Allies. Since Mr. Welles' return, it is said by those who ought to know that that idea is "out"; that it came exclusively from German sources and never had any real foundation. Granted that it was a mistake to withdraw our Ambassador before the war began, it would seem a greater mistake to send another under existing circumstances.

OF course, it is not contended that Mr. Welles consciously—or willingly—contributed to the Daladier downfall, added to Mr. Chamberlain's troubles and caused the Hitler-Mussolini demonstration that the Axis is still functioning. In his icy way, Mr. Welles is as pro-Ally as the President. His contribution to these results was unwitting. (Continued On Page Seven)

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

BLONDE OR BRUNETTE

When a couple is looking forward to the arrival of a baby, it is natural to suppose that a big question in their minds is: "Will it be a boy or a girl?" Perhaps the next most interesting question is: "Will it be blonde or brown eyes—will it be blonde, brunette or red-headed?"

Now, there are ways in which a couple can predetermine the probable complexion of the baby, and while these aren't infallible, still they are very interesting.

When the husband and wife are both brunettes, they naturally expect the child to be a brunette. The same is true of a blonde couple; it naturally expects a child with fair hair and blue eyes. But you have also seen a brunette couple with a child with beautiful blonde hair; you know that many a blonde couple have dark children. Now then a red-headed baby will be born to a couple neither of whose hair is auburn. The whole matter is somewhat confusing to laymen, and gives rise to many a rough joke intended to embarrass father or mother.

Sometimes these jokes go beyond the joke stage. Once a man came to see me talking darkly of divorce because he and his wife who were both very dark complected had had two or three swarthy children. Now another child had come along and it had red hair.

Fortunately, I had some articles on the subject in my library, so I got them out, showed them to the irate husband, and after an hour or so, he went home quite satisfied that nature had just played a trick on him; that his wife was true to him. Or that he'd have to have better evidence that she wasn't.

A child's hair color is an inherited characteristic, and you can forecast your unborn child's coloring, if you observe the set of rules that researchers have discovered.

All our inherited characteristics come to us in genes. These genes are tiny particles of which there are hundreds in every sperm cell and every ovum. When conception occurs the forming baby has two sets of these genes, one from the mother, the other from the father. Only one set of genes is needed for the new individual, of course, and so a choice is made. Some of the genes will be chosen from the mother, some will be chosen from the father.

You all know of babies that resemble one parent almost entirely; it didn't seem to bear any resemblance to or have any of the characteristics of the other parent. Well, determining his coloring, each person has two genes, and so the new baby has four genes to "choose" from. He may "choose" any two which may be both from one parent, or one from each.

I suppose every reader is familiar to some extent with the immortal work of Johann Gregor Mendel, who founded the science of genetics or heredity. His experiments gave us our first exact knowledge concerning the transmission of traits from parents to offspring. He showed there are both dominant and recessive genes in each parent, and these recessive genes are responsible for certain characteristics like red hair cropping up in members of a family in which they haven't been apparent for two or three generations.

But, ordinarily, parents who take account of the genes their unborn child will have to "choose" from, can foresee what its coloring will be. We will go further into this subject tomorrow.

AROUND CITY HALL

Mayor Charles B. Mayne, legal luminaries of the city and other officials headed via motor cars early this morning toward Akron where they will inspect the Akron airport. Last week city officials inspected an airport at Oil City. The city desires to draft a set of regulations for the local airport which in time the city will take over, hence their visits to nearby flying fields.

There are some singing officials in this city. Prinstance in the Civic male chorus are Finance Director James L. Pink of city council and County Detective Paul Welsh. Another chap who bears a badge of law and order who vocalizes is Archie Shoup, chief of police at Bessemer.

So far no announcement as to when Clean up, Paint up week will be staged here has been made. Annually early in April the "left-overs" of King Winter are gathered in yards then hauled away, giving grass a chance to grow and a more sprightly appearance to property.

Housewives residing in structures intersecting Albert street grow nervous everytime they hear the screech of an automobile tire gripping the cartway. So many accidents have occurred along the thoroughfare they are sometimes fearful of glancing through a window because they may see another pile-up.

C. R. Ralph, inspector of weights and measures, has an office on the third floor of the city building. He does the work for both city and county. . . . Sanitary Policeman Chauncey Davis collected samples of milk sold here last week. Milk and water is checked often to prevent possible epidemics.

Police have been quite active tagging cars which are parked overtime or parked by drivers who fail to pay for the privilege. . . . It is anticipated that the meters will bring the city's general revenue $20,000, this year.

City Assessor John W. Cartwright, named by council Monday, already is on the job. . . . Paving will be done in the order in which the petitions were petitioned, council reports. . . . With ice apparently having gone this year it may come to pass that the streets may be given a good cleaning soon.

As soon as weather conditions become suitable ground will be ploughed for gardens at the disposal plant. Annually more than three score gardens are to be seen there. Frank Nugent, superintendent, is in charge. Some good crops have been reared there. . . .

The present roof on the Central fire department is about 14 years old. Whoever gets the contract to repair or replace the roof will be required to place a bond against it going bad within a certain number of years. . . . It will not be long until forests in city parks will become inviting.

It may be against the law in Mercer county for a justice of the peace or alderman to take applications for marriage licenses from out of state residents, but its okay in Lawrence county. John A. Edgar can find no law prohibiting such practices and the J. P.'s and Aldermen are still taking the applications.

Back in 1893 there was a law that seemed to provide such limitations but the law has been amended many times, according to Mr. Edgar. So far as is known no other county but Mercer prohibits the practice but after May 17 there won't be much need to worry. All applicants on and after that date have to take a physical examination in addition to waiting three days. That law is going to stop marriage license seekers from Ohio it is thought.

Declining Birth-Rate To Affect Education

(International News Service)

EVANSTON, Ill.—April 2.—A declining birth rate is bringing far-reaching changes in American education, economic life and culture, the studies of three sociologists at Northwestern University indicate.

Dr. William L. Bailey said the decline began in the Scandinavian countries about 1875 and gradually spread throughout the western nations, with the result that the birth rate in these areas now is about half what it was then.

Dr. Arthur J. Todd, chairman of the Sociology Department, said that if the present trends continue population will become stable some time between 1945 and 1970. He commented:

"This should result in an enriched standard of living for more people." Dr. Todd declared that children are progressively better off as the birth rate declines, that they usually are better cared for and that the subsequent easing of pressure on the school system would permit an emphasis on quality rather than mass production in education.

The declining birth rate usually is accompanied by a decline in the death rate. Dr. David K. Bruner pointed out. He said that when the death rate is cut and the birth rate continues to mount, an ominous situation develops. This is happening at present in the Orient. Dr. Bruner explained:

"Japan is adding 1,000,000 persons a year to a population of 70,000,000. While this increase may be used in power politics as an excuse for imperialism, actually the people will migrate and the standard of living inevitably must go down."

The three sociologists agreed that increased urbanization had affected the birth rate as has the economic depression since 1929. Dr. Todd said he believed that the extension of labor organizations, resulting in a higher standard of living for new groups, also had affected the decline. All three scouted the idea that race degeneration would necessarily result from the changing birth rate.

Seek Sum For Locks Building At Panama Canal

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 2.—A $15,000,000 fund to start construction of a third set of Panama Canal locks, and an additional $30,000,000 for flood control were written into the war department civil functions bill by a senate appropriations subcommittee Monday.

The house had refused to provide any money for starting work on the new set of canal locks, and including in the bill only an $850,000 item for plan drawing and other pencil work on the canal project.

The subcommittee additions brought the bill up to approximately $250,000,000 and subcommittee Chairman Thomas (D) of Okla., said the measure would be acted on by the full committee during the week.

The house bill carried $70,000,000 for flood control and the senate subcommittee addition provided for work on projects in all parts of the country.

Communists Lead Campaign Against J. Edgar Hoover

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, April 2.—Evidence that the communist-led campaign against J. Edgar Hoover and the Federal Bureau of Investigation has been organized on a nationwide basis was disclosed today as the Department of Justice and congress were flooded with scores of "form" letters, telegrams and resolutions.

Strikingly similar in wording, the protests all called for an investigation of the G-men, and hit at President Roosevelt and Attorney-General Robert H. Jackson for failure to suspend the FBI head.

The resolutions were principally from communist "front" organizations, although a number of them were from CIO labor unions. In the main, they charged that "there is every evidence to believe that J. Edgar Hoover is preparing for a repetition of the shameful Palmer raids" and called for a congressional inquiry.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The so-called Palmer "raids" were conducted by Attorney-General Mitchell Palmer under the Wilson administration shortly after the formation of the communist party in this country in 1919.)

Chicago White Sox Muchly Improved As 1940 Race Is Faced

Manager Jimmy Dyke Thinks Pale Hose Will Finish Higher Than Fourth

Julius Solters Will Help Outfield, Have Fast Infield

By HAROLD HEROUX
International News Service Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES, April 2—Improved by winter trades, the Chicago White Sox will move upward in the 1940 American league race from a fourth place in which they finished last season, if you want to take Manager Jimmy Dyke's word for it.

On the basis of past performances, Dykes might have six 300 hitters on the field. Dykes is more optimistic, saying he hopes to have an all-300 batting lineup.

Dykes has acquired better utility help and if he can turn up some pitching he'll make it uncomfortable for all his rivals.

Solters In Outfield
Addition of Julius Solters, left-fielder, and Taft Wright, at right-field, will add to the Sox batting power. Mike Kreevich, one of the American league's better hitters, will complete the outfield.

Dykes was very pleased with the way Jackie Hayes, the second baseman who had been troubled with a knee, returned to form following his winter knee operation.

The remainder of the infield will be composed of Joe Kuhel, a 300 hitter at first, Eric McNair, who led the team hitting last season with .324 at third, and Luke Appling, league batting champion in 1938 at short.

Mike Tresh, who batted .259 in 1939, is expected to be the star catcher. Other backstops include Ken Silvestri, Tom Turner and Joe Weeks.

Veteran Pitchers
Ted Lyons, dean of the American league pitchers, hopes to best his 1939 record of 14 victories and six defeats.

Other veteran moundmen include John Rigney, who last year won 15 and lost 8; Thornton Lee, won 15, lost 11; Clint Brown, won 11, lost 10. Additions to the staff include Edgar Smith, who came from the Athletics in mid-season last year, winning 10 and losing 11; Pete Appleton, obtained from Washington in a winter trade, winner of 5, loser of 10.

The rookies most likely to stick include Harry Boyles, from St. Paul, won 4, lost 5; Vallie Eaves, Shreveport, won 21, lost 10, and Orval Grove, from Oklahoma City, who won 8 and lost 7.

Coach Monty Stratton won't be surprised if the Sox have another pitcher—Monty Stratton. His pitching career cut short by an accident climaxed by a leg amputation, Stratton has worked hard in spring practice, wooden leg or no, and dreams of returning to the mound. The Yankees will take the pennant again, Dykes confided, but added "I'll have my boys gunning for them."

City Softball Association In Initial Stages

Plan To Group All Softball In New Castle Under One Head

NEXT MEETING IS FRIDAY NIGHT

Softball in the city of New Castle this coming summer will be under one big parent head known as the City Softball Association. The idea is only in its temporary stage at the moment, but a permanent organization will be set-up this coming Friday night at the City Council chambers at 8 o'clock.

Temporary president is Rocco P. Viggiano. Acting as temporary chairman is Ray Wallace. Secretary of the Association is A. R. "Tony" Conn. Treasurer is Dundo Ambrosia. Vice President is Lester Brumbaugh.

League Heads Named
Serving as heads of the various leagues are:

Class A boys league—Kiski Marino Dundo Ambrosia.

Class B boys league—Frank Fannin, Jack Hitchcock.

Utility League—Howard Warnock, Russ Book.

Class C boys league—J. B. Call, George Lamorella.

Girls league—Jimmy Million, Jimmie Germannino.

Just how many teams will be in the various leagues has not as yet been determined. It is likely that the various teams will take out franchises at the Friday night session.

Secretary Conn announced today that the association is going to sponsor a gigantic Amateur Show at the Ben Franklin High auditorium the early part of May. Committees to handle the show details will be named at a later date, but Conn is to be general chairman of the show.

Six Teams In National Loop In Pennant Race

Only Phils And Boston Bees Do Not Shape Up As Pennant Contenders

PIRATES-GIANTS VASTLY IMPROVED

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 2—Sun-tanned, beating his chest in the exuberance of extreme good health, and full of zing and zest, Mr. Bill Brandt today declared himself ready for the baseball season opening two weeks hence, following his annual stay in the Florida training camps. He doesn't fear the tough 154 game grind in the least from his offices high up in Rockefeller Center, out of which he dispenses his publicity for the National League under the high sounding title of the service bureau. Aside from all that he wouldn't be a bit surprised if the New York Giants or the Pittsburgh Pirates won the pennant in his circuit this time. They finished fifth and sixth, respectively, last year.

He more or less corroborates what every one else is saying—that the National League pennant race is wide open, although the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds have an edge. However, the Giants and Pirates look to him like the most improved teams in the league. Hence they conceivably could win. The only clubs who can be definitely counted out are the Boston Bees, who are light in hitting, and the Philadelphia Phillies, who are light in everything.

—BUY IN NEW CASTLE—

Six Club Race
"It's going to be a six-club race," said Mr. Brandt, thumbing over the sheaf of facts, figures and fancies gleaned while he traipsed from one camp to another. A publicity man should and usually does rant that way, but he can just about prove to a skeptic that this one won't be any more of a breeze than the usual National League race. They've been knockdowns and draughts, since man's memory runneth not to the contrary.

The Giants have some newcomers—mainly Rucker in the outfield and Witke in the infield—who apparently will do, and the Pirates have Frankie Frisch for manager, not to mention several promising rookies.

Besides Frisch, who served his managerial apprenticeship as pilot of the St. Louis Gas House Gang, the Pirates have a couple of outfielders named Bob Elliot and Maurice Van Robays, who are expected to do large things.

Anyhow, every club in the circuit, except the backsliding Bees and phutful Phils can and may figure in the race, as Mr. Brandt views the situation after due deliberation.

Even the betting odds take cognizance of the situation that makes every club from sixth up, as of last season, a contender for 1940. The Cardinals are 2 to 1 favorites to supplant the Cincinnati Reds at the top of the heap, but the latter are 5 to 2 in the wagering, followed by the Brooklyn Dodgers and Chicago Cubs at 6 to 1, the Giants at 8 to 1 and the Pirates at 10 to 1.

Contrast that with the American League, where the New York Yankees are odds on 1 to 3 favorites, and the club picked for sixth place, Washington, is 30 to 1.

President Hitchcock today appointed the following two committees—banquet committee, chairman John Hodge, Russ Magill, and Jesse Kerr. Entertainment committee, Fred Scheppele chairman, Brad MacGonigle and Jay Rudolph. Other committees will be named later.

Sports World Ramblings

Local sports capsules—Equipped with a Gibraltar-like physique, a sincere love for the pugilistic game and courage, Jeffrey Dime, a neophyte from Princeton, seems to have what it takes, as they say along the rue de soccer. A strapping 6 feet 2 athlete, the 22-year-old mitt slinger is showing continuous improvement. Lawrence County's boxing technicians predict a bright future for the 183 pound gladiator who has already fought three times.

Henry Koszella, one of the most talented baseball packages in the county, departed Monday morning for North Carolina where he will receive a tryout in the Bi-State League, a Class D circuit. Hammering Henry, one of the slickest fly shaggers in the City League last year, starred with the Lawrence Indians. At the platter, Koszella came in with a batting average well past the 400 mark. The ex-New Castle High streamlined cager is also the Polish Falcon major domo.

The mailman unloaded a fancy card from St. Augustine, Florida, today. The card contains a bit of info regarding Pete Zarilla, the East Cherry street baseball prospect. As Palatka, during recent sessions, Zarilla caused a few of the higher ups to lift their eyebrows and whistle. As a result, he's trying out with the St. Augustine team of the Florida State Baseball League.

Plans now underway call for one of the biggest bowling tournaments ever staged here. Robert Mackey contemplates sponsoring a district wide duckpin event, during the waning weeks of April. The occasion is expected to attract the best duckpin squashers in the district.

Diamond dust—Ken Chase, Washington peger, was one of the toughest luck hurlers in baseball last year. The Senator slabanm lost seven games by one run! . . . Luke "Potatoes" Hamlin proved somewhat of an easy mark for National League sluggers. Hamlin yielded a homer every ten innings in 1939, handing out 27 four players in 270 innings. . . . Joe Medwick has batted better than 300 for eight consecutive seasons. Do you blame him for squawking for a raise? . . .

Carl Hubbell, lean New York Giants caster, is one of the most impressive figures in the Citrus League. . . . If spring training form means anything, Bobby Feller will be at his best this season. The Cleveland pitcher is near mid-season shape, according to Florida scribes. . . . Richard Conger, Detroit's sensational rookie, is the son of a California policeman. He has pitched 15 consecutive scoreless innings in spring training. He is 20 years old. . . .

Bits of everything—Remember K. O. Clutcher who started boxing at 27? He's 46 and will attempt a comeback. He is scheduled to fight an unknown Joe on April 11. . . . Notre Dame's grid squad is in training. The drills end on April 27 with the annual senior-1940 varsity tilt. . . . Tony Zale handed Ben Brown his first knockout in 70 fights last Friday night.

FOLLOWED THEORY 'ALL'S FAIR IN LOVE OR WAR'

(International News Service)

PARIS, April 2.—Soldier Paul Thomas, back on leave in Paris, thought up a new way to enliven that axiom: "All's fair in love or war."

Leaving out of his girl friend's window one evening he saw his rival for her affections standing on the sidewalk below.

Soldier Paul Thomas, veteran of many patrols at night in No Man's Land, acted with swift and soldierly precision. He lobbed a hand-grenade out of the window, seriously wounding the man.

"Actually he acted with discretion and restraint" joked the police officer who arrested him. He had four other grenades in his knapsack.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

Each time we start to write this bit of news, comments and what have you it's all that we can do to keep from mentioning something about spring... today we are going to do our best and not mention a word about spring... So we will swing right into that pet subject, dogs. We heard about a city dweller who took a trip to Vermont. He saw all the little syrup cans attached to the maple trees, and exclaimed: "My: what neat dogs you have up here," and so we say that if you want a dog you might contact the two following homes... they have dogs they would like to find good homes for. Phone 4099-J... a small dog, nice with children. Mrs. Simpson, 230 South Wayne St., Mahoningtown... two dogs, male and female, fox terriers... ideal dogs for a house.

It is our firm belief that too little is said about driving carefully

... you might say that you hear it at least once a day... then why in the name of Jasper don't you drive more carefully. Why do you insist on flying through "STOP" signs... why do you speed to make a traffic light... why did you double park last Saturday when traffic was so heavy? Here are a few suggestions that might help make us all safe drivers:

Transport Issues During Morning

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 2.—The stock market developed firmer tendencies today, but aside from continued activity in air transport issues, many at new highs, there were few developments of note.

There was little change in the general foreign situation with European markets still firm but quieter after yesterday's broad gains. Allen currencies recovered further, sterling climbing about 2 cents.

American Air Lines jumped more than a point, while Eastern and Pan-American Airways did nearly as well, all reaching new high ground. Boeing stood out in the manufacturing division with a climb of almost 2.

Reynolds Tobacco "B" gained a fraction to a new 1940 top, while radio equaled the peak of 6 1/2 set yesterday. McKesson & Robbins assets met profit-taking after their sharp rise since relisting last week.

Fractional improvement ruled such pivots as U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, International Nickel, General Electric, N. Y. Central, Du Pont and Standard Oil of N. J.

Cases tumbled almost 2 points. Johns-Manville dipped fractionally to a new bottom.

Commodities were colorless, wheat gaining slightly as cotton held at last night's closings. Strength in traction liens stood out in the bond market.

Germans Claim British Bombs Miss Targets

Report British War Planes Drop 25 Harmless Bombs In German Patrol Boat Attack

(International News Service) BERLIN, April 2.—Dropping 25 bombs which missed their targets, British bombers attacked German patrol boats west of the fortified island of Sylt, it was announced officially today.

The communique issued by German general headquarters also stated that French scouting detachments on the western front were trapped by a mine field east of the Moselle River, suffering several casualties.

Two enemy scouting detachments were repulsed south of Ludwig-Winkel, the war bulletin added. Official German announcements listed a total of five allied planes believed to have been shot down in aerial combats.

The latest bulletin said that a French fighting plane of the Curtiss (American-made) type was reported shot down near Sedan and that a British spitfire warplane also was reported destroyed at Montmedy. It added that five German Messerschmitts battle 11 French Morane planes over Birmensheim, but that lack of fuel forced both sides to retreat without inflicting any losses.

An earlier war bulletin revealed the destruction of three allied planes and loss of one German aircraft in a series of combats, this communique stated.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry I. Botwin, of Sheridan avenue, returned Monday morning from a week's visit to Philadelphia and Atlantic City. They visited the former's parents, while at Atlantic City.

On account of the high water in the Susquehanna and Juniata Rivers, they were detained at Clark's Ferry to Sunbury, and back to Lewistown, and from thence to Huntingdon, where they also had a short detour, the flood water being more than two feet over the highway near that point. Dr. Botwin states the detours added over a hundred miles to their journey.

STARS ARE NOT FIXED IN SKIES SAYS ASTRONOMER

(International News Service) SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 2.—The ancient theory stars do not change positions but remain fixed in the skies has been upset by modern astronomers.

There is no such thing as a fixed star, according to Professor Robert J. Trumpler, University of California. The term is due to the fact that slow changes of position of far distant stars do not become apparent to the naked eye for centuries, he said.

Sharply contrasting with stellar slow-motion is that of the solar system with the sun traveling at the rate of 170 miles a second.

"The sun travels for 200 million years to complete one revolution of its orbit," said Trumpler. "The stars visible to the naked eye which are in the vicinity of the sun move in similar orbits."

"The stellar motion which we observe represents only the relatively small difference between the orbital motion of the stars and the orbital motion of the sun," he explained.

"This carries with it the whole solar system—the observer as well."

New Castle Elks Install At Butler

New officers of Butler Lodge 170, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks were installed in Butler last night by Hugh D. Graham, present exalted ruler of the New Castle lodge, and his corps of officers.

Eugene Gates became Butler's exalted ruler as Kenneth Snow relinquished the office.

Snow and his group of 1939-40 officers will come to New Castle on April 10 to officiate over the installation ceremonies for Wilbert J. Chapman, New Castle's exalted ruler-elect, and other newly elected officers. Graham retires that night.

Under Elk's grand lodge rules, an exalted ruler functions as the "grand exalted ruler" on installation night—acting directly for the chief of all Elksdom, who in this case happens to be Henry C. Warner, of Illinois.

16 SCIENTISTS

Reveal Great Discovery About CONSTIPATION

Tests at World-Famous Hospital Show How To Help Nature Produce Her Own Gentle, Complete "Daily" Bowel Action!

NEW YORK: Constipation sufferers rejoice! For now violent cathartics and laxatives and harsh "roughage" products, many of which are habit forming and are often irritating to bowel lining—can be avoided.

You can now actually help Nature produce her own gentle, complete "daily" bowel movements—thanks to the patient study of 16 Scientists.

You see if waste matter in the colon isn't kept moist it becomes hard, dry, caked and results in constipation. These scientists discovered that a "little daily dose" of Kruschen actually keeps this waste matter moist, soft and easy to expel. Also acts as a mild antacid and kidney diuretic.

There is no nausea, no griping, no violence with Kruschen. Hospital tests report: "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase the dose." Inexpensive! Only a trifle for a jar that lasts weeks. Over 245,000,000 jars of Kruschen have been sold throughout the world. Kruschen must do the work!
